HOMER

Rev. Albert Johnson of Guthrie Center, Iowa, arrived Wednesday of last week to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Clair and family.

Miss Neva Altemus, who is attending high school here, spent Thanksgiving vacation at her home in Correctionville, Iowa.

Miss Eva Greis, who taught in the primary room here last year, spent her Thanksgiving vacation at the Peter Sorensen home, and visiting friends in Homer.

Mrs. Joseph Smith was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Sherman McKinley, at South Sioux City during Thanksgiving week.

The Misses Ada and Margaret Stidworthy and Miss Ruth Small, who are students at the state university at Lincoln, spent Thanksgiving vacation at home. Miss Gertrude Norris, a friend of Miss Margaret, accompanied them.

James Allaway, sr., and wife ate Thanksgiving dinner with James Allaway, jr., and family.

Mrs. Alice Bolster and daughter Helen were Thanksgiving guests at the Sam Combs home.

Charles O'Connor, a student at the Creighton college, Omaha, ate Thanksgiving — well, we were going to say turkey, but changed our mind as we have not heard of a Turk on this side of the big pond for some time. Any way he ate Thanksgiving dinner with home folks.

Cal Rockwell and wife were incoming passengers from Sioux City Sunday.

Mrs. Jay McEntaffer, of Ft. Morgan, Col., came Friday to attend the funeral of her sister's husband, Newt Crippen.

Mrs. Crippen's brother, Ed Magill, of Wiener, Neb., was here for the funeral also.

ELK VALLEY

Josie McAfee, who has been visiting home folks over the Thanksgiving season, returned to Nebraska Central College, Central City, Neb., to resume her studies, Monday of this week.

The Ike Woods estate public sale which was held on the farm Wednesday of last week, was well attended, and considering the low prices and conditions of the times, most everything brought fair prices.

Arthur Stevens, who has been working for the Ike Woods estate since the death of Mr. Woods, will start soon for Council Bluffs, Iowa, where he will make his future home.

Merle Benton came up from Central City with the football team, which played at Wayne last Thursday, and spent the week-end with his parents, returning to his studies in Nebraska Central college Monday of this week.

The Axel Lind family entertained friends from Omaha during Thanksgiving week.

Robert Way, who has been assisting his father, Evan Way, in picking corn the past two weeks, returned to his studies in Nebraska Central college Monday of this week.

Geo. J. McClellan and family attended the oyster supper and program at Springbank Friends church, Thursday evening of last week which was given in honor of the Nebraska Central football team which played Wayne Normal that day. A very enjoyable time was had by the large crowd present.

On Thanksgiving day the Nebraska Central college and Wayne Normal played a very interesting game of football at Wayne. The Wayne Normal team was victorious. The Nebraska Central team was at a great disadvantage on account of having several of their best players injured in previous games and not being able to play in this game, necessitating the substitution of less experienced players.

Rev. Theo. and Estella Foxworthy, superintendents of Nebraska Yearly Meeting of Friends, will be at the Elk Valley Friends church from December 3 to 5, and will have charge of the following services: Meeting at 7:30 p. m., Friday, December 3rd. On Saturday at 7:30 p. m., they will give an illustrated missionary lecture, showing us pictures of our missionary work in the various fields. At 11 a. m., Sunday morning they will have charge of the services and preach for us. A most cordial invitation is extended to every person in the entire community to attend these services and hear these most excellent ministers of the gospel of Christ.

From Sunday, December 5 to Sunday, December 12, is American Quakerism week at Elk Valley Friends church. The following program has been planned: On December 5th at 11 a. m., Rev. Foxworthy will give the opening address on "The Message and Mission of Quakerism." Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m., two addresses will be given as follows: "Friends' Foreign Missionary Work," and "Friends' Home Mission Work." On Wednesday, December 9th, at the regular prayer meeting, we will have a Bible study on Intercession. On Sunday, December 12th, at 11 a. m., the pastor will preach a sermon on "The Power of Intercession." And at 7:30 p. m., the young people will have charge of the services and will present several departments of our work as follows: "Friends' Publication Work," "Friends' Bible School Work," "The Peace Association of Friends in America," "Activities of Young Friends in America," "American Friends Service Committee Work," and "Subjects for Prayer."

But very few people know of the great work that the Society of Friends have been carrying on during the past 250 years in many countries of the world, in fact but few know what the Friends stand for, having been misrepresented and misunderstood very often by even well meaning people. This will be an opportunity to learn more about our

An Appeal

To the Republicans of the Country and All Those Who Aided Them:

The Republican success in the 1920 election has been commensurate with the quality of our candidates and the righteousness of our cause.

This success is the partnership accomplishment of all Republicans everywhere and of hundreds of thousands of well-wishers of good government regardless of past party affiliations.

To all of these we now appeal, because it is the mutual responsibility of us all who will share alike in the consequent mutual benefit of good government.

The plan of limiting campaign contributions to $1,000, adopted by your national organization, has left your party unmortgaged.

It has been a most advanced step in placing the business of politics on the highest plane, and has brought an interest on the part of thousands who never before have been concerned with politics.

Some weeks before election it was apparent that the expenses provided for in our budget, with the strictest economy, would exceed the contributions, but we were unwilling either to leave undone any legitimate effort essential to complete success or to change the method of raising money. We were then sure and we are now sure that every Republican desires that the expenses of the campaign be distributed in this manner.

Your presidential campaign this year cost no more than that of 1916, when a dollar went nearly twice as far as it does today.

Four years ago the bulk of the campaign fund came from 750 contributors, while this year the approximately $2,000,000 contributed to date for the presidential election has come from 50,000 givers.

The victory won, the raising of the deficit would be easy, indeed, if your committee were willing to abandon the policy of keeping down the average of contribution. This we are determined not to do. It was a fight of all the people. The result speaks for itself. It lifted a burden from the minds of millions and points the way to better and happier days. We ask now for that additional help from all which is merited both by the successful conclusion of the effort and by the consequent contribution to the welfare of all of our people and the glory of the nation.

Let us now have help from every American who is grateful for the victory and all that it means to the country. It might well be in the nature of a thanksgiving offering for the return to a certainly safe, sane, constitutional progressive government.

Let us by general and generous giving put the seal of approval upon the policy of putting a national administration in power free from any possible embarrassment of special obligation to any man, men or group of men. Let us make the contribution, whether large or small, and whether or not we have heretofore given, commensurate with our means and our appreciation, always within the maximum limit heretofore fixed.

Let us get our names on the cornerstone of a sturdier political structure, upon the roll of those who have helped make possible a campaign of which, in methods and result, we may as Republicans and patriots be justly proud.

Most earnestly we urge that this aid be given quickly, that your committee may be enabled to discharge the party's obligations and turn to further constructive work in behalf of party and country.

 Will H. Hays, Chairman.
